Dear Matthew

We are pleased to inform you that your proposal #216, Eurasia's Dilemma: A Historical Think Aloud for the Day of Demosclerosis, for presentation consideration at the 105th NCSS Annual Conference in Washington, DC has been accepted! Congratulations on this accomplishment. To ensure the highest quality sessions are presented, your submission underwent a blind review (without revealing authorship), membership process, plus two additional reviews by up to six peer reviewers, who gave you high marks and identified your session as among the best.

Poster presentations will be located at the Walter E. Washington Convention Center, located in the DC, and held in 55 minute time slots on Friday, December 5, and Saturday, December 6. As a poster presenter, you will be supplied with a large bulletin board on which to display visuals related to your presentation. You will also have a table for handouts, your laptop, and other artifacts and equipment you wish to bring.

Scheduling information will be sent to you in late July, along with poster session guidelines. You can express a preference on which day we schedule your session. Please fill out the preference form by June 30, 2023. We will do our best to accommodate your request.

As the lead presenter for your session, you are responsible for ensuring that all individuals involved are aware that your proposal has been accepted. Please also make sure you and any co-presenters register for the conference by the pre-registration deadline of November 15, 2023. Registration is now open at www.ncss.org/2023/03/20/2023-ncss/. Presenters may request a fee at a discounted rate by entering the promo code PR1893 on the personal information page when registering.

Register by July 4 to receive a special early bird rate of $3.50 for NCSS members, $4.50 for NCSS non-members. Prices will increase after this date, discounted from the individual attendee rates.

Finally, allow us to congratulate you again for having your proposal accepted! We cannot wait to see you share knowledge and create inspiring moments for your colleagues.

We look forward to seeing you in Washington, DC this December!
