

Outlook

Re: 2024 CLD Conference Proposal

From Meg Podemski <mop0010@auburn.edu>Date Mon 10/7/2024 10:31 AMTo Margaret Flores <mmf0010@auburn.edu>

Ah, thank you!

On Oct 7, 2024, at 9:50 AM, Margaret Flores <mmf0010@auburn.edu> wrote:

Here is the email with the acceptance.

From: Apryl Poch <apoch@unomaha.edu>Sent: Friday, May 31, 2024 1:36 PMTo: Margaret Flores <mmf0010@auburn.edu>; vmd0002@auburn.edu;
rsatsang@gmu.eduSubject: [EXT] 2024 CLD Conference Proposal

CAUTION: Email Originated Outside of Auburn.

Dear Margaret, Vanessa, & Rajiv:

Congratulations! The below-named proposals have been accepted and grouped into a panel (90-min) for the CLD 46th International Conference on Learning Disabilities.

Proposal Lead	Proposal Title
Margaret Flores	Using the concrete-representational-abstract integrated sequence to teach place value concepts
Vanessa Hinton	Teaching Rational Number Concepts
Rajiv Satsangi	Studying a Virtual Number Line Intervention to Teach Fraction Computations

Please note the following:

1. Dates and times of sessions will be shared this summer.
2. Poster and roundtable numbers will be listed in the conference program.
3. All sessions will be presented in person.
4. All presenters are required to register for the conference by July 31, 2024, or the session will be canceled. Please share this email with your co-presenters, if any, to ensure they register for the conference and to extend our congratulations. Remember that it is the session leader's responsibility to make sure that all co-presenters register for the conference. Click here to register for the conference.
5. If there is a change related to your presentation, please inform the Conference Program Chair, Dr. Apryl Poch (apoch@unomaha.edu), no later than June 14. This includes the addition or deletion of co-presenters, and changes in presenter name, affiliation, or contact information.

6. Reminders about registration and any further communications about your presentation will be sent to this e-mail address that you provided with your proposal.

Once again, congratulations! We look forward to seeing you in Charlotte!

Apryl L. Poch, Ph.D.

Assistant Professor of Special Education

Department of Special Education and Communication Disorders

College of Education, Health, and Human Sciences

512K Roskens Hall | 6001 Dodge Street

University of Nebraska at Omaha | <https://www.unomaha.edu>

Phone: 402.554.5970 | Fax: 402.554.2879

apoch@unomaha.edu

Vice President and Conference Program Chair

Council for Learning Disabilities

<image001.png>