Subject: ISSS 2024 Conference Submission Decision

Dear Sara Ellison,

We are pleased to inform you that your abstract, The Role of Self-Control in Experiences, Attitudes, and Behaviors Related to Nonsuicidal Self-Injury: A Grounded Theory Analysis, has been accepted for presentation as a Research Snapshot at the 19th annual conference of the International Society for the Study of Self-Injury (ISSS), being held at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education (OISE), University of Toronto in Toronto, Canada between June 26th and 28th, 2024. While your abstract submission was for a Research Paper presentation, we faced constraints on the available space for paper presentations. We kindly request email confirmation of your acceptance to present a Research Snapshot; alternatively, please inform us if you wish to withdraw your abstract. Emails can be sent to oise.carelab@utoronto.ca.

Presentation Details

As a Research Snapshot presenter, you will be expected to deliver a three-minute presentation with a maximum of three slides. Typically, one slide will include your literature/review and key questions, one slide will include your method and results, and one slide will include your implications. Please ensure your presentation does not exceed three minutes, as all presenters will be held to this time limit. Your presentation slides must be submitted in advance of the conference in PPT/PPTX format by June 14th through this submission point.

Important Note. When preparing your presentation, please ensure that your slides and talk contain no stigmatising or sensationalising language and no strong/graphic imagery or descriptions of self-injury. We also encourage you to consider the tone of your language/images – are you perpetuating stereotypes or are you fostering hope? Lastly, there is no need to define NSSI.

Registration

Conference activities will take place on June 27th-28th, 2024, with pre-conference activities occurring on June 26th, 2024. Registration for the conference is already open, click here to register! Please make sure your membership is up to date to qualify for member pricing.

If you require an invitation from the host institution for VISA purposes, please email oise.carelab@utoronto.ca with the subject line “2024 Conference Invitation for VISA”.

Attendance

Most travel to Toronto will arrive through the Lester B. Pearson International Airport. There are several cost-efficient options for getting downtown from the airport, including the Union-Pearson Express (the UP). For information on using the UP Express, click here. The UP Express conveniently connects to the TTC subway system and OISE is located at St. George Station. For more information on using the TTC subway system, click here.

There are many options for accommodations in downtown Toronto including hotels and Airbnb. For a full list of accommodations within 1 mile of OISE, including those that offer

Among them, for a full list of accommodations within 1 mile of OISE, including those that offer discounted rates for the conference, please consult our conference website linked here.

We are happy to answer any questions you may have – please use the Contact form on the ISSS website or email oise.carelab@utoronto.ca.

We look forward to seeing you in Toronto in June 2024!

Sincerely,
