[EXTERNAL SENDER - PROCEED CAUTIOUSLY]

Dear Brandee Appling,

Thank you for submitting your proposal #188 titled "Strategies for Cultivating a Researcher Identity in School Counselor Doctoral Students" for presentation at the Association for Assessment and Research in Counseling (AARC) 2025 conference. We are pleased to inform you that your proposal has been accepted as a(n) Education Session. Congratulations!

Your proposal went through a masked peer-review process prior to acceptance. In addition to evaluating your proposal, reviewers were invited to provide feedback to presenters. If reviewers opted to offer you feedback, it will be included at the bottom of this email.

The conference will be held September 12-13, 2025, at the beautiful Daytona Grande Oceanfront Resort in Daytona Beach, Florida.

Next Steps

1. Confirm Your Participation: Please confirm or decline the invitation to present at the 2025 conference by May 16, 2025, at <https://bit.ly/AARC-Proposal-Confirm>.
2. Scheduling: Once the conference schedule is finalized, you will receive a follow-up email prior to the conference indicating the date, time, and location of your session.
3. Registration: Conference registration is now open! Visit AARC's conference website for information on hotel room blocks and registration details. All presenters must be registered by August 8, 2025, to be included in the official program. Please see the conference website for information on registration and cancellation deadlines.
4. Share with Co-Presenters: This acceptance email has been sent to you as the lead presenter. If you have co-presenters, please share this information with them.

Thank you for contributing your expertise to this year's conference. We are excited to #MeetInDaytona for #AARC2025 in September, and we are thrilled to include your session. We cannot wait to welcome you to Daytona Beach!

Warmest Regards,

Sandi Logan-McKibben (she/her/hers), PhD, NCC, NCSC, BC-TMH, ACS, LPC (CT), CSC (CA)
