Dec. 19, 2022

Dear Patrick Monaghan:

Your response is due by Jan. 4, 2023.

The following is essential information regarding your participation in the in-person session titled "What we Know and What we Don't Know Regarding Gait Biomechanics in Aging" at the 2023 ACSM Annual Meeting, World Congress on Exercise is Medicine® and World Congress on the Basic Science of Physical Activity and Aging Biology being held in Denver, CO from May 30 to June 2. The 2023 meeting will be presented in person with an online component to follow. Your session has been selected to be part of the in-person, live event in Denver.

Please carefully read this information, click "Accept" at the bottom and complete the next steps no later than Wednesday, Jan. 4.

Every speaker in the session is receiving this information. If you are presenting in more than one session, you will receive a notification for each. You'll need to complete the notification questions (on the next screen) for all sessions in which you are presenting. We need this information for each individual session.

Please note your session's scheduled date/time below.

Session Information

The Program Committee has worked diligently to minimize content overlap among concurrent sessions. Therefore, we cannot consider any requests to change a session's date or time because these would have a ripple effect across the entire program.

Attendees expect to hear from the speakers listed in the program. If you need to update your list of submitted speakers, your session's chair/submitter should notify the ACSM Education Department at breed@acsm.org as soon as possible.

When presenting on-site, due to the quick turnaround between sessions, please do not linger at the front of the room answering individual questions. Instead, we ask that you take questions outside to avoid delaying the next session.

Remuneration

If you were granted remuneration for your participation in this session based on the ACSM Annual Meeting remuneration policy, it will be noted directly following this paragraph. Unless noted otherwise below, you are responsible for all costs associated with your presentation, including conference registration, lodging, airfare, transportation, etc.

Meeting Registration

Per ACSM policy, all presenters are required to register and pay the registration fee for the in-person conference. (This includes exhibitors who may also be presenting.) Failure to register, including paying the fee, may result in a penalty preventing you from presenting at future annual meetings. Failure to register and pay the fee may also result in your being invoiced the registration fee along with a late-penalty fee. You must complete your registration even if it is complimentary.

The Program Committee recommends all speakers pre-register by March 30 to take advantage of the early-bird price break and allow ACSM to ensure all speakers have registered.* Click here to register.

*If you are receiving complimentary registration, as indicated in the above Remuneration section, please follow the directions listed there.

Housing

Review housing details and reserve your hotel room. If you are receiving complimentary hotel nights from ACSM, as indicated in the above Remuneration section, please follow the directions listed there.

Audio Visual

Speakers at the convention center must upload their presentation in advance, either beforehand via a link provided from Encore in early May or when you check in at the Speaker Ready Room. Please read these instructions and guidelines.

Speakers will have the opportunity to upload their slides on the mobile app for attendees to access. ACSM will send out more information about this process in May.

Presentation Requests

Symposia are a vital part of the program, allowing experts to share important new scientific and medical findings from peer-reviewed literature and derive and discuss novel insights from them. Please refer to unpublished or unreviewed data only sparingly.

The knowledge you share during your presentation is what makes this meeting a success. Consider ending with one or two conclusion slides that give attendees a succinct take-home message.

You are encouraged to build your slides using this slide template. Please save a copy before editing.

General Photography and Social Media Etiquette

ACSM strives to create a participatory environment at its meetings that encourages learning and facilitates dialogue. Generally, taking photos, live-tweeting, and sharing ACSM Annual Meeting experiences on social media is welcomed. It is the attendee's responsibility to avoid distraction to others by using devices in a sensible, respectful, and conscientious manner.

Restrictions on Photography, Recording, or Other Copying of Presentations and Data

However, presenters of session and poster content may not wish to have their presentations or research photographed, recorded, or shared on Twitter, Facebook, or other social networks. Presenters are asked to make an announcement before and during their presentations if such capturing and recording is allowed. If there is no announcement or other permission granted, attendees are asked to refrain from photography and recording. Since content may be at different points of journal submission or other formal processes, ACSM asks for compliance by all attendees with presenter desires regarding photography and social media, whether allowed in whole or part or not at all.
