

FALL 2019

ENGL 1103 English Composition I

Students receive an intensive study of and practice in effective expository and argumentative writing. Course is 3 credit hours. Students who earn a 30 or higher on the ACT English test receive credit for this course at Auburn University.

ENGL 1123 English Composition II

Students receive instruction in rhetorical principles, textual practices, cultural expectations, and critical habits of mind commonly associated with academic research writing. Course is 3 credit hours. Students who earn a 35 or higher on the ACT English test receive credit for this course at Auburn University.

HIST 1013 World History I

Survey course on world history from early humanity to the late 18th century. Students will examine the record of human political, social, cultural, religious, and economic activities across time, regions, civilizations, and cultures. Course is 3 credit hours.

MATH 1153 Pre-Calculus Algebra and Trigonometry

Students are instructed on algebraic functions, Exponential Logarithmic functions, and analytic and geometric properties of trigonometric functions. Course is 4 credit hours. Students must have earned a at least a score of 23 ACT Math/540 Old SAT MATH/565 New SAT Math or "C" or above in MATH 1000/1003 to register in this course.

MATH 1613 Calculus I

Students learn limits; the derivative of algebraic, trigonometric, exponential, and logarithmic functions; applications of the derivative and antiderivatives; the definite integral and applications to area problems; and the fundamental theorem of calculus. Course is 4 credit hours. Students must have earned a at least a score of 26 ACT Math/600 Old SAT MATH/620 New SAT Math or "C" or above in MATH 1130/1133/1150/1153 to register in this course.

SPRING 2020 (additional courses to be offered)

ENGL 2203 World Literature before 1600 (Lit 1)

Students complete culturally diverse readings in world literature from the ancient period to c. 1600 and engage in course discussions and assignments. Course is 3 credit hours. Students must have earned credit for ENGL 1100/1103 and ENGL 1120/1123 to register in this course.

ENGL 2213 World Literature after 1600 (Lit 2)

Students complete culturally diverse readings in world literature from c. 1600 to the present and engage in course discussions and assignments. Course is 3 credit hours. Students must have earned credit for ENGL 1100/1103 and ENGL 1120/1123 to register in this course.

HIST 1023 World History II

Survey course on world history from since the Industrial Revolution. Students will examine the record of human political, social, cultural, religious, and economic activities across time, regions, civilizations, and cultures. Course is 3 credit hours.

SOCY 1003 Sociology: Global Perspective

Students are introduced to the study of society and current social concepts and issues such as race and ethnicity, stratification, conformity and deviance, religion, sexuality and population are also examined. Course is 3 credit hours.