Research Support

Funded/Ongoing Research Support:

1R15HL140504-01A1—NIH National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute R15. “Social determinants of Sleep and Sleep Disparities among College Students.” T. Fuller-Rowell (PI). 2018-2021

The objective of this study is to examine how childhood adversity and contemporaneous stress combine to influence sleep and sleep disparities during higher education.

Role: PI

R01HL136752—NIH National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute R01. Child Sleep as a Mechanism and Moderator in the Development of Health Disparities. M. El-Sheikh (PI). 2018-2022
The goal of this study is to examine socioeconomic and racial disparities in sleep among children, and to consider the role of sleep in health disparities.

Role: Co-I

R01AR065493 NIH-NIAMS R01. “Psychosocial Stress and Lupus Among African American Women.” D. Chae (PI). 2014-2019.

The goal of this study is to examine whether experiences of racial minority stress are associated with disease progression and severity among African American women with lupus.

Role: Co-I

Completed Research Support

1R01AG047154-01A1--NIH National Institute on Aging R01. "Longitudinal Perspectives on Race and Health in MIDUS: Insights from Milwaukee." C. Ryff (PI). 2015-2018.

The goal of this project is to examine health trajectories of African American adults living in Milwaukee, as compared to Whites of similar economic and educational backgrounds.

Role: Co-I and site-PI for subcontract

Auburn University Intramural Grants Program (AU-IGP). "Racial Disparities in Health during Tertiary Educational Attainment: A Longitudinal Study." T. Fuller-Rowell (PI), 2015-2017. The goal of this project is to examine explanations for race differences in the health consequences of educational attainment across the college years.

Role: PI

Auburn University Intramural Grants Program (AU-IGP). "Mechanisms for Health Disparities among College Students." T. Fuller-Rowell (PI); 2014-2015. Using data recently collected by the PI, the goal of this research is to examine the differential health consequences of educational attainment for African American and white college students. Specifically, the aims are to (1) evaluate race differences in biomarkers of chronic stress (allostatic load) during college, and (2) consider two specific explanations for race differences: (A) physiologic reactivity to academic evaluation, and (B) self-reports of college stress.

Alabama Agricultural Experiment Station AgR-SEED Grant. "Expanding the Science of Race and Health in Rural America." T. Fuller-Rowell (PI), 2016-2018.

The goal of this seed grant is to lay the groundwork for a subsequent project that will advance knowledge of race-based inequalities in health by increasing the diversity of the Midlife in the U.S. (MIDUS) study sample and examining mechanisms for racial/ethnic health disparities.
