ALMA MATER AND NATIONAL ANTHEM

ALMA MATER

On the rolling plains of Dixie
'Neath the sun kissed sky
Proudly stands our Alma Mater
Banners high.

To thy name we'll sing thy praise
From hearts that love so true
And pledge to thee our loyalty
The ages through.

We hail thee, Auburn, and we vow
To work for thy just fame,
And hold in memory as we do now
Thy cherished name.

Composed by Bill Wood, 1924

Word Revision, 1960

by Emma O'Rear Foy

THE STAR SPANGLED BANNER

O say can you see,
by the dawn's early light,
What so proudly we hailed
at the twilight's last gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars,
through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched,
were so gallantly streaming?
And the rocket's red glare,
the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night
that our Flag was still there.
O say does that Star-spangled Banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free and the home of the brave?

Music by John Stafford Smith, 1780

Lyrics by Francis Scott Key, 1814

Adopted as the national anthem of the United States, 1931

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Academic regalia worn during graduation is based on attire from the 12th and 13th centuries when universities were being established. Academic dress and accoutrements have been used in the United States since colonial times. To maintain tradition and recognition of academic regalia, little has changed in the symbolism of pattern and color since the Middle Ages. In 1895 an intercollegiate commission adopted a standardized code for the use of academic gowns, hoods, and caps, which included regulation of style and materials. Colors were prescribed to represent different fields of learning. Since then, few revisions have been made to the code, which is followed by the majority of colleges and universities in the United States, including Auburn University.

GOWNS

Except for a few universities, academic gowns are all black. The bachelor's gown is the simplest of the three types. The master's gown is similar but has sleeves with an extra long extension. Because it represents the highest degree, the doctoral gown is fuller throughout and has pleated bell-shaped sleeves. It is trimmed with a velvet band that circles the neck and descends the front, and it has velvet bars on the sleeves.

HOODS

Hoods were a common, practical item in the Middle Ages. They have endured as the sign of a scholar, losing their original function as a hood, but gaining symbolism through color and material. Master's hoods are edged in velvet in the color of the candidate's major field. The hood's satin lining shows Auburn University's official colors. A doctoral hood is longer and larger than the master's. A doctor of philosophy's hood has dark blue velvet-bound edges and the doctor of audiology has green. The orange and blue satin lining shows that the degree was conferred at Auburn University. The faculty who march in the academic processional show a range of colors marking their degrees and institutions.

The traditional rule for hoods is that a candidate for a degree should not wear the hood until the degree is conferred. However, at Auburn University, master's degrees are conferred en masse and degree candidates wear hoods throughout the ceremony. Recipients of the doctoral degree are hooded during the ceremony. These candidates do not wear the hood in the academic processional, but receive the hood when the degree is conferred.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

CAPS AND TASSELS

A black mortar board is the typical headwear worn; some faculty have black tams. All caps have tassels. Students earning a bachelor’s degree have tassel colors representing their fields. They begin the ceremony with the tassels on the right front side; after all degrees are conferred, they are instructed to move the tassels to the left side. Faculty and candidates for master’s and doctor’s degrees already wear their gold tassels on the left side.

STOLES, CORDS, AND MEDALS

In addition to the orange stoles worn by Student Marshals, some graduates wear regalia signifying academic achievement or membership in organizations, primarily honor societies. Students graduating summa cum laude, magna cum laude, or cum laude wear yellow cords. The Honors College recognizes its graduates with silver medals. Students inducted into Phi Kappa Phi, an honor society incorporating all fields of study, may wear cords of interwoven gold and blue. Some schools and colleges have honor societies unique to their discipline, and students selected for membership wear stoles, cords, or medallions representing them. Like hoods, each color and pattern is unique to the honor.

ACADEMIC SYMBOLS

MACE

In ancient Rome, what would later be called a mace was carried at the head of processing civil authorities. By the middle ages, the Catholic Church similarly used a mace, which also became associated with the civil authority of monarchies. Today, the United Kingdom's House of Commons still presents a mace to mark daily sessions being open and legal. The United States House of Representatives adopted this practice in 1789, establishing the tradition of the Sergeant at Arms carrying the mace into the chamber to be placed near the Speaker of the House.

As an established symbol of authority, maces in the academic setting were adopted to show that a president represents the governing body of the school. Maces have been used in graduation ceremonies to demonstrate that a school's authority legally grants the degrees. Auburn University's mace was created in fall 2015 from the wood of the beloved Auburn Oaks, thus representing the Board of Trustees' legal authority and linking to a symbol that is laden with meaning to the Auburn Family. The Auburn mace is approximately 42 inches tall and is carried by the macebearer, one of the faculty leaders of the Graduation Committee.

GONFALONS

Gonfalons are banners that originated in medieval Italy to identify a state or office. In Auburn University graduations and commencements, each college and school is represented by its own gonfalon, which is carried into the ceremony by a student marshal, who is selected from the graduating class. The university gonfalon is carried by the faculty marshal. Additionally, smaller gonfalons stand on the edge of the floor to designate the seating area for each participating college and school.

AUBURN UNIVERSITY: THE HISTORIC HOME OF THE AUBURN FAMILY

Owing much to the past, Auburn's greater debt remains ever to the future.

Auburn University today is a comprehensive land-, sea-, and space-grant institution—among the few that hold that distinction—occupying more than 1,840 acres and helping fulfill the dreams of nearly 30,000 students. The university began, though, as the small, more humble East Alabama

Male College, which was chartered in 1856 and opened its doors in 1859 as a private liberal arts institution. From 1861 to 1866, the college was closed because of the Civil War. The college had begun an affiliation with the Methodist Church before the war. Due to dire financial straits, the church transferred legal control of the institution to the state in 1872, making it the first land-grant college in the South to be established separate from the state university. It thus became the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama.

A land-grant college or university is an institution that has been designated by its state legislature or Congress to receive the benefits of the Morrill Acts of 1862 and 1890.

The original mission of these institutions, as set forth in the first Morrill Act, was to teach agriculture, military tactics, and the mechanical arts, as well as classical studies, so that members of the working classes could obtain a liberal, practical education.

Women were admitted in 1892, making Auburn the oldest four-year, coeducational school in the state and the second-oldest in the Southeast. In 1899, the name was again changed to the Alabama Polytechnic Institute. In 1960, the school officially acquired the name it has long been called and one more in keeping with its location, size, and mission—Auburn University. The institution has experienced its greatest growth since World War II, and now has more than 300,000 alumni.

THE AUBURN CREED

I believe that this is a practical world and that I can count only on what I earn. Therefore, I believe in work, hard work. I believe in education, which gives me the knowledge to work wisely and trains my mind and my hands to work skillfully. I believe in honesty and truthfulness, without which I cannot win the respect and confidence of my fellow men. I believe in a sound mind, in a sound body and a spirit that is not afraid, and in clean sports that develop these qualities. I believe in obedience to law because it protects the rights of all. I believe in the human touch, which cultivates sympathy with my fellow men and mutual helpfulness and brings happiness for all. I believe in my country, because it is a land of freedom and because it is my own home, and that I can best serve that country by "doing justly, loving mercy, and walking humbly with my God." And because Auburn men and women believe in these things, I believe in Auburn and love it.
